Pennsylvania is a critical state in a very critical election
Vote November 2, 2004

The war and economy are dominating the news. The environment isn't getting the headlines it should. The candidates' records on the environment are vastly different and should be considered by voters.

Tape these signs inside car or house windows, post on community bulletin boards, or wherever else the public will see them (Please, only where it is permitted.) Pass them out to friends.

à Most important: Forward this file (or link) to people on your mailing list and ask them to do the same.

New! 'One with the Earth', A universal symbol for environmental awareness. The design represents land, water, sun and life. The symbol is free to use by all who share a common concern-- ensuring a livable world for our children and future generations.

Why a unifying symbol? It says all environmental issues are interconnected parts of one rapidly growing problem- we are damaging the environment faster than nature can heal it. With widespread visibility, the symbol will heighten awareness, broaden support for those working on solutions, and increase public demand for responsible policies and products.
